Editor's Note

My heart is replete with vigor to introduce the first school E-magazine under the patronage of our venerable principal Maxwell Shanti and vice principal, Mrs Sarah Waseem.

In Saftopedia, students have written everything by themselves. Nothing has been taken from the internet or any other book with the exception of quotations and jokes. It shows the capacity and proficiency of our students. Through this magazine they have got a platform where they may expound their concealed talents through proper channel. It will provide its reader the targeted information and news about our school history, how to overcome your anger, different articles and many other informative topics. It would enhance the knowledge of your children.

In future, we are also planning to invite the parents and ex-Anthonians to chip in, to adorn and embellish this magazine. We encourage you to give your comments through the school website to make it more meaningful in future.

I am indebted to my team-members, without their cooperation it would not be possible to bring out this first edition.

We have an anticipation that you would value our first humble attempt.

Message From The Principal

Mr. Maxwell Shanti

I am pleased to see the emergence of new school magazine by the name of SAFTOPEDIA. I am more pleased to see that it is a combined effort of students and teachers of the school. As we all know, St. Anthony's High School, Faisal Town always encourages the students and the teachers to take initiatives to exhibit their innovative and creative ideas in different ways. It may be through science exhibitions, activities, sports or in writing. SAFTOPEDIA is an outcome of that innovations and creative ideas that the students had been busy with in putting on paper. All content appearing in these pages are not cut-and-paste or copied from other authors, they are genuinely written by the children. In future, we would like to see more participation by the parents and all students. Take few minutes and go through the ideas and attempts that our children have made under the guidance of their teachers and encourage them for the future. Let us make it our own magazine rather than a magazine of a few people. God bless you.

Vice Principal's Message

Dear Students/Parents,

As per the legacy of school, we are feeling proud to launch another nurturing platform for our students to nourish their creativity. We believe that our students will utilize this opportunity to exhibit their gifted pearls of creative ideas and expressions in their writings that can touch anyone's heart.

Our school magazine will be a tool to provide opportunity and experience to unlock their veiled talents and abilities. Students, parents and teachers will work like a team to uplift this constructive work that can fulfill the unique demands of this society. It is believed that Saftopedia will portrait the real picture of enriched school values and meaningful blossoming of our young brains.

FEW LINES FOR MY MOTHER

My mother is my first teacher. She teaches me how to eat. She always cares for me and works hard. When I am hungry ,she makes a meal for me .When I am in trouble or get sick, she cries all night and prays for me, but when she is in trouble, she doesn't tell anyone because she thinks if I tell my children they will get tense. When you smile it's like heaven for me.

The quote is true,

“Paradise lies under the feet of your mother.”
